

Stephan Rösger

Stephan Rösger is a lawyer and Master of Business Administration (Rotman School of Management in Toronto) with over 30 years of detailed experience in development and implementation of circular economy and resource efficiency concepts.

His credo is: "IT MUST NOT GIVE WASTE ANYMORE, if you use the technology that exists and inform people accordingly."

This view comes from the intensive examination of circular economy, recycling and resource efficiency. Already at the world's first circular economy project, the Duales System Deutschland GmbH, in a leading position he helped to realize their ecological objective in economic practice.

"I am deeply convinced that ecology and economics are NOT opposites, but properly understood and economically managed are to benefit of the environment and the business."

He has proven this at various other leading stations in international associations and global companies.

The close integration of theory and practice from a legal as well as economic point of view, I am pleased to be able to contribute to the circle of "Thinking Circular Experts".
